BILLION AND HALF RELIEF FUND ASKED

Roosevelt Submits Special Message To Congress

(Editor's Note—The text of President Roosevelt's relief message to Congress today is published in full on page 6 of this issue of The Telegraph.)

Washington, April 20—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress for $1,500,000,000 for next year's relief fund today in a message on relief needs during the 12 months beginning July 1 forecast.

A treasury deficit on June 30 of $2,557,000,000 or $309,000,000 over his January estimate.

A deficit in the 1938 fiscal period ending June 30, 1938 of $418,000,000.

"I propose to use every means at my mind to eliminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year," Roosevelt told the senators and representatives.

Cites Expectations

Urging economy, the president said he expected to do this by withholding from appropriation for expenditure so far as practicable a "substantial percentage" of the funds available for 1938 and by increasing receipts through liquidation of assets of certain emergency agencies.

On the basis of the president's revised estimates, the public debt would climb close to the $35,500,000,000 mark by June 30.

He said the treasury would be prepared by November next to present to Congress information as to any loopholes in the revenue laws and "suggestions for such new, or additional, taxes as may be necessary to meet deficiencies, if any, in the revenue-producing power of the present laws."

The relief figure in Roosevelt's message had been reported to newsmen by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, after a White House conference last night attended by congressional and administrative officials.

Chickens Fooled

Alliance, Neb., April 20—(AP)—Speaking about maximum production, Jay Vances cites his own chickens for an example.

After the chickens performed their regular duty of morning egg laying a dust storm swept the region. Skies darkened. The hens tucked their heads down, and rested during the false night.

In a few hours the skies cleared. Vances said, the hens woke up and laid another quota of eggs.

BRITISH SHIP RUNS BLOCKADE TO FEED BILBAO

Beleaguered Basque Capital Gets A Week's Supply

By The Associated Press

A British freighter today ran the Spanish insurgents' attempted blockade and carried a week's food supply to the inhabitants of insurgent-besieged Bilbao, capital of northern Spain's Basque provinces.

The international patrol of Spain's coastal waters and boundaries went into effect last midnight, but it was designed only to keep volunteers and munitions from Spain.

In addition, the British ship—the Seven Seas Spray—left St. Jean de Luz, France, an hour before the control scheme went into operation. The vessel's owner reported she had reached Bilbao safely despite the British government's refusal to protect British craft going all the way into the port. The British officials have contended the harbor was dangerously mined.

For the ninth consecutive day Madrid felt the force of steady insurgent shelling which government said took "many victims."

Seize Merchant Ship

At Hendaye, France, insurgent sources reported an insurgent vessel had seized a merchant vessel trying to take airplanes and war materials to Bilbao and Santander on the northern Spanish coast. The vessel came from a Mexican port it was said, but its name and nationality were not disclosed.

Insurgents halted the Norwegian steamer Pasterstrand, carrying salt, in the straits of Gibraltar and took her to Spanish Morocco, the Nor-

THREE PER CENT SALES TAX WILL STICK UNTIL '39

House Passes Horner's Bill and Sends It To The Senate

Springfield, Ill., April 20—(AP)—By a vote of 105 to 21—three more than necessary—the house today passed the administration approved bill extending the three per cent sales tax until February 15, 1939.

By the same vote the house passed companion bills extending the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission one month until July 1 when other bills pending before the house would change the relief set-up.

Another bill sent to the senate would continue the state's $3,600,000 monthly contribution for relief expenditures as long as the sales tax remains at 3 per cent.

A few minutes after Speaker Louis E. Lewis announced the vote, the roll call was amended by additional votes to show 109 to 24. Only 102 votes were required for the two thirds majority necessary to make the bill an emergency measure.

Although several gave their support to the bill, Republican leaders urged during debate that a constitutional amendment be adopted to remove the tax from necessities and asserted a study of retrenchment possibilities was needed.

Needs Senate Action

The extension bill, which provides the third cent of the tax for relief purposes, will require the immediate attention of the senate to prevent the rate from dropping to two per cent on May 1.

Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, minority leader, said the Horner administration deserves commendation for its budget balancing efforts but declared a study of retrenchment possibilities is needed. He voted for the bill after urging that the constitution be amended to take the sales tax off necessities.

R. J. Branon of Centralia, another Republican leader, declared he was opposed to the sales tax in theory but said that revenues are needed.

Dennis J. Collins, DeKalb Republican.

Alleged Wielder of Auto Crank is Held for Hearing

Phillip Linder, 40, of Rockford, pleaded guilty to an information charging him with being intoxicated on a public highway, when he was arraigned before Judge Zick in the county court this morning, and he was sentenced to serve a 30-day term in the county jail. Linder was taken in custody four miles east of Ashton Sunday afternoon when Deputy Sheriff Stoddard Danekas of Reynolds township found him lying in a ditch, covered with blood. His condition today was such that he could appear in the county court, despite the fact that ten stitches had been taken Sunday to close three head wounds.

Sam Moore of Rockford, charged in an information with assault and battery, was sent to jail for a 60-day period and his brother, Wilbur, who is alleged to have wielded the automobile crank on Linder's head, hesitated when called before the court to answer to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, then pleaded not guilty. His hearing was set for the June term and in default of bonds in the sum of $1,000, he was remanded to jail.

Bridges at Binghamton and on "Dad Joe Trail" Are Considered Unsafe

Highway Supt. Fred Leake So Informed Co. Board

The Binghamton bridge east of Amboy, which spans Green river, is unsafe for travel, County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake again told the board of supervisors at their special organization meeting yesterday afternoon he asked to be relieved of the responsibility for what might happen. The bridge was condemned 20 years ago during the tenure in office of the late Prof. L. B. Neighbour, the board was told when Superintendent Leake was asked by whom the structure was condemned. At that time a load limit not exceeding three tons was placed on it.

Another bridge structure spanning Green River on the Dad Joe Trail is also in a dangerous condition, the board was told but because of light traffic, is considered less hazardous than the Binghamton span. Leake suggested changing the roadway approaching the latter bridge in the event that a new structure would be built and estimated the cost of this improvement at about $16,000. He estimated that the same type bridge as now spans the river could be built at a cost of about $3,000.

Garrison's Suggestion

Assistant Supervisor Garrison of Dixon, chairman of the new road and bridge committee, suggested laying out a new road which would run east from state route No. 2 south of Amboy and along the south bank of Green River. Superintendent Leake replied that such a plan was considered a few years ago, but new right of way would have to be purchased and a small bridge structure constructed. For the accommodation of children attending the Binghamton school, he stated, it would be necessary to build a foot bridge across Green river at the location of the present structure.

Superintendent Leake stated that he hesitated in closing the road crossing the stream over the condemned bridge, but sought to be relieved of any responsibility. State Attorney Edward A. Jones when asked for an opinion, told the board that by posting the structure the board would be considered as making a partial admission of responsibility, adding that in his opinion, the county superintendent's duty was to close the road.

Supervisor Henry Knecht of Wyoming offered a motion which permitted the road and bridge committee to conduct an inspection of the structure and report at the June meeting of the board with recommendations which met with the unanimous approval of the board members.

Pension Restored

Chairman Ragsdale informed the board that the bill pension of Fred Trotter of Franklin Grove had been discontinued upon the recommendation of the county investigator and sought the reinstatement of the sum, adding that he held in his possession a petition signed by five Franklin Grove business men who attested that the recipient was a resident of that place. The board tempting to obtain $3,500 from Mrs. Mary Powell of Windsor, Mo., by claiming he could effect the release of her missing husband from a Central American prison. Later he admitted he did not know the whereabouts of the man.

Six Rockford, Ill., men were indicted for violation of internal revenue laws by the operation of a still raided near Cedarville last May. They were Anthony Domino, Theodore Incrassia, Frank Incrassia, Peter Domino, Frank Theodore and Joseph Riccarda.

ARRESTED BY STATE POLICE WEST OF CITY

Will Be Held Until Fingerprints Are Given Studies

A transient stranger who gives the name of Earl Bernard, his age as 40 years, and his destination as Detroit, Mich., where he claims to have a sister, Mrs. Minnie Campbell, residing at 951 Crane avenue, is being held in the Lee county jail, pending an investigation by the federal department of justice.

Bernard was taken in custody on the Lincoln Highway, near Prairieville yesterday afternoon about 3:30 by State Highway Police Officer Rex Flach of Amboy, who noted a marked resemblance in the stranger's build and facial expression with those of the suspect in the Mattson kidnaping in Seattle, Wash., on Dec. 27, last year.

Bernard was taken before Justice J. O. Shaulis this morning where Officer Flach filed a vagrancy charge and the transient was fined $15 and costs, which he was unable to pay, being remanded to the county jail after he had been informed that he would be held until a complete investigation is made by federal and state authorities. He produced a badly worn newspaper clipping of his picture and an article telling of his being arrested and detained in Billings, Mont., on Feb. 28, as a suspect in the Mattson case. Bernard told Officer Flach that he had served a 30 day jail sentence at Billings on a vagrancy charge while undergoing federal investigation.

Picked Up Five Times

In addition to the Billings arrest, Bernard said that he had been apprehended at Sioux Falls, S. D., where he was detained for a few days and, in all, had been picked up five times as being a suspect in the Mattson kidnap case.

"I was working in a coal yard in Seattle, Wash., for 50 cents a day when the kidnaping took place," Bernard stated this morning when arraigned in justice court. "I spent all of last winter there, but don't like the town on account of the hills. I am trying to get to Detroit where I have two sisters living but at this rate, it looks like I won't get there till next fall."

Last evening Officer Flach and Deputy Sheriff Gilbert Finch finger-printed Bernard and copies of the prints were forwarded to the department of justice at Washington, D. C., and the Illinois criminal department at Springfield this morning.

One peculiar trait observed when Bernard was arraigned this morning, was that the only words he is capable of writing are those of his own name, which he accomplished laboriously.

May Be Held 8 Days

Officer Flach was patrolling the Lincoln Highway yesterday afternoon and near Prairieville saw Bernard walking along the paving, coming toward Dixon and stopped his car to question the man. His first act was to search the transient for weapons and Bernard was then taken to the officers car and taken to the county jail for questioning. When taken in custody, Bernard wore several days growth of whiskers but these he shaved off in the county jail this morning before being photographed.

State Officer Flach is now awaiting information on the finger prints taken last evening, to determine whether or not Bernard is to be held longer than eight days, as a suspect in the kidnaping of Charles Fletcher Mattson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson, who was seized in the family home at Seattle, Wash., on Dec. 27, last year.

Missouri Senate Okays Lethal Gas For Executions

Jefferson City, Mo., April 20—(AP)—A bill providing for the centralized execution of all condemned men in the state penitentiary here by use of lethal gas was passed unanimously today by the senate and sent to the house.

No concerted opposition to the measure has appeared in the house, and Governor Lloyd C. Stark has indicated he favors centralized executions to replace Missouri's capital punishment law which provides that condemned men be hanged in the county in which they are convicted.

Some For Reduction

"Some members of Congress

believe the relief appropriation might have been reduced to $1-

000,000,000."

Roosevelt tentatively estimated relief expenditures for the 1938

fiscal year at $1,500,000,000 in his

January budget message. A group of mayors and governors then asked that this figure be lifted to $2,200,000,000. Other interests have urged that it be trimmed.

Robinson said last night's conference developed strong sentiment that a very practical effort should be made to limit expenditures and appropriations so as to close as soon as possible the gap between income and outgo." He added, however:

"The indications are that if appropriations are conformed to estimates, the 1938 budget will be out of balance.

"It is thought ways may be found without increasing taxes to bring the deficit to a narrow margin."

HOOVER REPLIES TO CRITICISMS OF HIS G-MEN

Topeka Comment Brings Answers From Chief of U. S. Agents

Kansas City, April 20—(AP)—Both J. Edgar Hoover and his administrative assistant spoke out vigorously today in behalf of their federal agents in rebuttal to Topeka criticism of the handling of an attempted arrest of New York gunmen there last Friday in which a G-man was slain.

Hoover commented in Washington and W. H. Drane Lester, an assistant, spoke here and in a Winfield, Kas., address last night.

Hoover asserted in 20 months his bureau had apprehended 2,000 fugitives without a casualty and that therefore it was untrue to say the agents needlessly endanger the lives of private citizens.

Lester called a press conference to make his explanation as two New York gunmen, Alfred (Limey) Power and Robert Suhay, waited in the Kansas City, Kas., jail for grand jury action against them in the slaying of Agent Wimberly W. Baker.

Prisoners Arraigned

"If we had the National Guard and all local police there (at Topeka) it's my opinion we couldn't have saved Baker's life," asserted Lester.

During arraignment proceedings yesterday, Suhay pleaded innocent and Power declined to plead without counsel.

S. S. Alexander, U. S. District Attorney, said a special grand jury would be assembled to speed the case, with the government planning to demand the death penalty.

Sought for robbery of a Katoanah, N. Y., bank, the gunmen were captured at Plattsmouth, Neb., Friday night.

Peoria Ave. Reading Club Observed Golden Birthday

The Peoria Avenue Reading club celebrated its fiftieth anniversary Monday.

Fifty years ago a small group of friends living on Peoria avenue decided to meet each week to read, study and enjoy the better things in literature. This proved a most successful venture, as each one found inspiration and enjoyment in the fellowship of these meetings.

As the club became outstanding in its attainments others wished to join. It has always been restricted to a small number, new members only entering when there was a vacancy.

There were only a few of the early members left to enjoy the beautiful banquet given to the club by Mrs. George Loveland, who is no longer an active member on account of ill health. The repast was served in the Guild Hall of St. Luke's church by members of the present members. The repast was very fine in every detail as Mrs. Loveland had planned, and served in the usual style St. Agnes Guild is noted for.

The banquet table was in keeping with the golden anniversary. The decorations were in gold and white, gold ribbons decorating the white banquet cloth, with a gold basket in the center containing yellow roses and violet stocks. There was a beautiful corsage of yellow roses and violet sweet peas at each place. The place cards were in the form of golden leaves and the nut cups represented gold roses. There were many souvenirs from different members, among which were lovely little gold picture frames given by Mrs. Frank Philpott in memory of her mother, who was a former member.

Mrs. C. B. Morrison was toast mistress and gave a beautiful tribute to the club, and called upon each member for a toast. Miss Anna Geisenheimer's toast to Mrs. Loveland was excellent and brought out many good times spent at her house and the fine instructive talks she had given on her world travels. The club lingered around the sumptuous banquet table until a late hour, and each member carried away a beautiful memory of the fiftieth anniversary of the Peoria Avenue Reading Club.

Mrs. William Becker, president-general, told the first business meeting of the congress that many chapters were doing outstanding work in aiding boys and girls.

The society's routine application papers—300,000 of them—were called the most authentic record of American history in existence by Mrs. Lue R. Spencer, registrar-general.

"They contain the ancestry of over 1,000,000 American families," she said. "Thousands of requests for material in unpublished records are answered through a new extension service."

Another phase of D. A. R. work in compiling information was reported by Mrs. John Y. Richardson of Portland, Ore., who said 1,287 graves of Revolutionary war soldiers were located in 1936.

State delegations and national committees arranged social meetings this afternoon, and tonight the president-general's reception will take place followed by the colorful Page's ball.

DAILY HEALTH

By Dr. Iago Galdston
ASK YOUR DOCTOR

A cartoonist recently drew a touching scene in an outpatient clinic of a large city hospital.

A white coated physician sat at a desk with an emaciated man opposite him. Said the man:

"Please, doctor, don't ask me so many questions. Give me some medicine and let me go home."

Looking at that cartoon, one's sympathies are somewhat with the patient. He appears sick enough to be at home, and in bed. But from the doctor's viewpoint, how can he give him "some medicine" fitting to the case, unless he first asks the patient questions?

Questioning the sick one is an important action in arriving at a diagnosis. Indeed, most diagnoses in everyday practice must be made on the history which the patient gives of events and experiences preceding the illness and by the description of the symptoms recited by the patient.

But this matter of questioning has its other side, too. If the physician must question the patient to understand his case, so too the patient may and should question the doctor in order to understand his diagnosis and the treatment he orders.

Of course the latter can be overcome. The physician is not likely to undertake the instruction of the patient in general medicine, or in the rationale of drug therapy. But barring these, there remains much which the patient is entitled to know, and which the physician will be glad to tell him, or even to explain in detail.

Most conscientious physicians, when the case warrants it, give their instructions to the patient in oral and written form. And yet, even so, the patient may fail to understand some detail. Under such circumstances don't hesitate—ask the doctor to repeat, to explain, to amplify. If the treatment seems unreasonable, tell him. Here is a case in point:

An intelligent business executive was instructed by a physician to improve his diet by the inclusion of eggs and milk. Developing a skin rash, the executive went to a dermatologist who ordered him to give up milk, eggs and all other foods, but meat and rice. The executive thereupon thought both doctors crazy and went to a third. This one explained to him that the meat-and-rice diet was ordered only to determine, by a process of elimination, which of his foods was responsible for his rash.

BOTH ENDS AGAINST THE MIDDLE

John L. Lewis proclaimed that he contributed half a million dollars of the funds of organized labor to bring about the re-election of President Roosevelt and that he expected results from the White House.

There has been a great ado about the rights of labor, both before and after the decision of the United States Supreme Court.

The aim, of course, is to get for the organized laborer a larger portion of every dollar produced, and to force unorganized labor to come under laws fixing maximum hours.

Regardless of the phase of legislation on hours and weeks and possible legislation on wages, the end sought is a larger share of every dollar produced.

When labor takes a larger share of the dollar, from whom does it take it?

It takes it from the farmer and other producers of primary products, who can not pass on their costs.

Yet the farmer is expected to rally to this labor program, even to the support of the assault against the Supreme Court of the United States. Colonel Lowden recently issued a warning to farmers in the following language:

"I am told that some farmers are in favor of bestowing such power upon the federal government. I want to issue a solemn warning. The farmers constitute about one-quarter of our population. The other three-quarters are interested in low prices for farm products. This 75 percent, living largely in the cities, have greater facilities for making their wishes known than the agricultural 25 percent. What chance will the American farmer have in the long run if the federal government is given the power to name the prices of products of the soil?"

In order to take away from the farmer his share of the dollar, it is not necessary for the government to fix the prices of farm products; it is necessary only for it to raise the prices on all the things the farmer has to buy, the process by which the government in the war period reduced the farmer to the condition from which he now is undertaking to extricate himself.

Who is doing anything to save the farmer from further reduction? Well, Secretary Wallace says he hopes to get legislation that will broaden the powers of the government in its control of the farms of the country.

What does he hope to accomplish by that?

He hopes to raise the price of farm products to the laborer, so that when the laborer receives that larger portion of the dollar's worth produced, the farmer will be there to take it away from him in the high cost of food and clothing.

So we have the right hand of the administration carrying out the demands of John L. Lewis in behalf of his $500,000 campaign fund in order that the laborer may get a larger share of the dollar produced and we have the left hand of the administration undertaking to have the farmer on hand to take it away from him if, when, and as he gets it.

Sitting in both the farm and the labor camps, besides the president, are such men as LaFollette, Brookhart, and Norris.

If that isn't a beautiful picture of politicians playing both ends against the middle, none ever has been seen.

Politics is a great game.

THEY ASKED FOR IT

Senators from the southern states, all democrats, cried aloud against the anti-lynching bill passed by the house of representatives in Washington. Their argument was that the federal government thereby would be interfering in the affairs of the states.

It would be just that. Under rules heretofore prevailing in relation to maintenance of the lines of state and federal jurisdiction it probably would have been held unconstitutional. But the southern gentlemen have been all for changing the rules. That is they voted for the change, whether down in their hearts they desired them or not. During four long years they have been obliterating state lines and thrusting the power of the federal government into the business and the homes of all of us.

If they seem now to have injected the federal government into the affairs of the southern states, they have only themselves to cry out against.

They asked for it.

THEY THINK HE'S UNCLE SUCKER

Lord Riverdale, better known as Sir Arthur Balfour to newspaper readers in this section, has been making a visit in the United States. Being interviewed by American newspaper men with reference to the war debt, his lordship made the suggestion that it would be beneficial if the British could float a loan in this country. This money would then be used to repay the United States on the account now long overdue.

It is as though a customer, deeply in debt to his grocer, should go to the grocer and request a loan so he could pay his account.

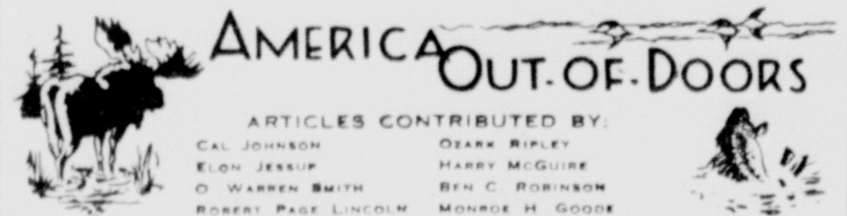

Lord Riverdale of course is aware of the legal impossibility of floating a British loan in the United States as long as the British are in default. If a private citizen could develop enough nerve to go into his creditor-grocer with a loan proposal, and the grocer should in turn tell him that he had a rule against lending money, to his dead-beat customers, the customer would feel quite properly squelched. But that is not the way with diplomats. They immunize themselves to deadly thrusts. They can stand being called all sorts of names if in the meantime they can pull their political or economic chestnuts out of the fire.

There is nothing that can be printed in the newspapers of this country, or said by American diplomats, that would pierce the armor-plated epidermis of Lord Riverdale. Some newspapers may use such terms as dead-beat, welcher, cheat and bankrupt.

Our diplomats, however, are of more ethereal matter. Although American career men can take it as well as those abroad, they do not dish it out. Only recently the French made a serious attempt to float a loan of American dollars by indirect means. Our diplomats neglected to use direct and forceful terms. They simply said they feared the loan could not be floated because of "technical and legal difficulties."

They call him Uncle Shylock, but in reality they think he is Uncle Sucker.

OUR FRESH WATER FISHES

By Robert Page Lincoln

In spite of its size, the muskellunge, oddly enough, is not a deep water fish. It stays most of the time in water ranging from five feet in depth to less than 15 feet. Even in the winter it will be found in water less than 30 feet deep, which exemplifies conclusively its tendency to cleave to comparatively moderate depths. The place to seek the muskie in the summer is along the outer edges of the weed beds, pads, rushes, etc. A study of muskellunge fishing conducted within the borders of the United States is interesting in that over 90 per cent of the fishing for this species has been by the method of trolling. One fisherman trolls, all fishermen troll after him. It is merely following in the rut of an old-time custom. Once in a while a fisherman, instead of trolling with his spoon, breaks the moss-grown ritual and goes in for casting his spoon or lure up to the pads, rushes, etc., and actually takes fish, while the man trolling will pull his lure over endless miles and accumulate nothing save weeds.

Time and again it has been proven that where most of the fishing has been done by trolling (and without success) a shift to casting the spoon or plug has proved a genuine surprise. There is a reason for this. Most trolling is conducted at a safe distance away from the pads and weeds, obviously to protect oneself from hooking weeds. This may be all the way from 10 feet to 20 feet away from the pads and rushes where the fish may be lying. The lure, thus, rarely comes within reach of the fish; indeed he may never get a glimpse of the lure, therefore, how can he be expected to take it? Added to this, on much fished lakes,

Annuals

IN PREPARING the soil for the flats in which you start your seeds, screen it carefully, using a coarse screen at the bottom and the very fine at the top. Cover the seed with soil screened through the regular window screen.

WATER THE SEEDS in your flats through a piece of coarse burlap. This will prevent washing the soil from above them, and will give the needed moisture.

ANNUALS such as California Poppies, Nasturtiums, etc., that do not transplant easily should be sown where they are to bloom. Just as soon as they are large enough to handle, they should be thinned out to prevent overcrowding.

HAVE SOME of the old fashioned shrubs and flowers. To most there is a certain attractive atmosphere that attends lilacs and mignonette and the old standards.

AS A CLASS, annuals prefer more sun and a lighter soil than do perennials. They are also generally far more fragrant.

WILT RESISTANT asters are now in the catalogs. Even where there is no wilt disease, they are preferable because of their strength and vigor.

THE BRILLIANCY of Poppies is not surpassed by any other annual and they will add to the color of your garden. They fit in nicely between the June perennials and the later annuals.

MARIGOLDS are always desirable and they are persistent in bloom right up to frost. The new Golden Eagle is particularly attractive. It has been adopted as the official flower of the Girl Scouts of America.

ZINNIAS are warm weather plants and must be sown in warm soil. Best results are obtained by sowing the seeds in the ground where the plants are to flower.

the muskellunge, in fact, many other fish, have become suspicious of any passing boat, and it at once makes them cautious and watchful. They do not make any ill-conceived sallies out of the weeds to hit a lure that follows after the passing of a boat. But where the boat is rowed well away from the weeds, and casts are accurately made at closely spaced intervals along the length of the shore so that all likely water is covered, there you are likely to take a fish unawares, and the chances of a catch are multiplied many fold.

Any fisherman who has long been in the game knows it to be a rock-bottom fact that almost every cagey fish that swims well water that is ultimately hooked is taken unawares; that is, when a lure without warning drops in close proximity of his honorable fish, it will be seized on the surprise of the moment. In consideration of this fact, much-fished waters are best fished by casting; than by trolling, the latter method proving inadequate by reason of any of the circumstances above mentioned.

The muskellunge, unlike the great northern pike and the eastern pickerel, is in the habit of keeping himself in one restricted bay, nook or cove along the shore of a lake. Thus, if you raise a fish of this species in such a place and fail to take him, it is almost certain that you can return to that place any time thereafter and fish for him in the same spot, for he will not be far away.

As opposed to this, the great northern pike and the pickerel are roamers and are likely to be taken anywhere in a lake where pads and reeds occur. Both pickerel and great northern are far from being "educated." A spoonhook or a plug lure, if placed within their reach, is likely as not to take them. In either case it is well to remember that small lures in both classes are likely to take more fish than the truly large lures; whereas, there are times when the muskellunge will strike best on large lures. For muskellunge it will be found that the regulation type of fluted spoons in the No. 9 and No. 12 sizes, with feathered vanes, will prove of exceptional value. Certain oval-shaped spoons of the heavy duty muskie type are also noteworthy recommendations. Such spoons have a plain blade and bucktail masking the gang-hook, either red, yellow or natural grey in color. Both types of spoons should be carried in the tackle box. Aside from spoon lures, plug lures in various types are useful. Such plugs are five to six inches in length, of solid construction or in the jointed type. These large plugs are favorites in the Lake of the Woods country of western Ontario, one of the famous muskellunge regions of the continent. The rainbow colored plug and the plug with pike coloration are by far the most successful. Being a fish which operates in and around the weed beds and inner waters, the muskie takes its food often on the top of the water, therefore those lures that are of the top-water variety, and which disturb or boil the water, are of exceptional value. Revolving head plugs with spinners fore and aft also are effective. The wounded minnow type and several others will take muskellunge when others are likely to prove inadequate to demands.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Of course not, because many types of mental abnormalities—feeble-mindedness, dementia precox (the insanity of adolescence) and other types show up before the marriage age and most such persons are not marriageable. Also, many minor mental "deviates" such as extremely selfish, egocentric, introverted or extraverted people do not marry. Furthermore, several studies have shown that marriage tends in a majority of

SELF-CONFIDENCE and How to Develop It

This booklet is in many respects the greatest yet offered by Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam in connection with "Let's Explore Your Mind." It contains TEN RULES, each scientifically tested and presented in clear, easily understood words. Included is a self-rating Self-Confidence, or Personality Comparison chart. The essence of the booklet is the work of Dr. David Mitchell, distinguished consulting psychologist. This booklet is issued without profit as a service to readers. A charge of 10c is made to cover costs. Enclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed return envelope. Address Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam in care of this newspaper. Just ask for SELF-CONFIDENCE.

to how to dispose of the million which he actually possessed.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. By highly intricate and accretions Drs. Lee Edward Travis and Abraham Gottlob, physiologists of Iowa university, recorded the "brain potentials" of 44 healthy students—that is, waves within the brain—not waves sent out by the brain. The pattern of each person's brain potential was traced as a zigzag line on a moving trip of paper which was then torn in two and one portion pasted on a wall. Then the experimenters who did not know which record belonged to any student—matched the two strips together and in 352 trials were 94 per cent correct—only 20 errors. They concluded that each individual has his own type of brain potential pattern at least over a short period of time. How much this pattern changes as time goes on is being studied.

ILLINOIS THIRD IN PROVED DAIRY SIRE CONTESTS

Number Double That Of All Previous Competition

Urbana, Ill. April 20 — Third place honors in a national proved sire contest for dairy herd improvement associations have been won by Illinois with 117 sires proved, more than double the number for the previous year, according to reports received from the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry by J. G. Cash, dairy extension specialist, University of Illinois, college of agriculture.

Evidence of the increasingly important position being occupied by Illinois in the dairy industry of the nation is found in the fact that the state climbed from fifth to third place in the national contest last year. In the past three years 231 bulls have been proved in the state.

A sire is proved by comparing the 305-day lactation records of at least five of his daughters with their dams. The work is carried on by dairy herd improvement associations of the state in co-operation with the extension service of the University of Illinois, college of agriculture.

In pointing out the value of association records in proving herd sires, Cash recalled the case of King Togo Posch, a Holstein bull proved before he was 6 years old. The 305-day lactation record of his first five daughters averaged 420 pounds of butterfat as compared with an average production of 352 pounds for the dams. In other words the production record of the daughters was 19.1 per cent greater than that of the dams.

"Through the comparisons made possible by dairy herd improvement association records, the owner of this bull knows his transmitting ability and will have a meritorious proved sire at the head of his herd for several years," Cash said.

The new nation-wide production recording system making it possible to check family lines which have extended across state borders will be a decided advantage to owners in proving their sires and in their herd-building programs, it was pointed out.

Text of Presidential Message on Relief Need

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's relief message to Congress today:

To the Congress of the United States:

In my budget message of Jan. 5, 1937, I said that I would transmit at a later date an estimate of appropriation for work relief for the fiscal year 1938. In connection with this estimate it is desirable to review our present fiscal situation.

Budget estimates made last December indicated a net deficit for the current fiscal year of $2,448,000. They also indicated a net surplus for the fiscal year 1938 of $1,537,000 exclusive of any provision for a work relief appropriation.

On the basis of these estimates, therefore, an appropriation for work relief for the fiscal year 1938 of any sum less than $1,537,000 would have left at the end of that year a budget in balance.

Since then, however, new factors have so altered the fiscal situation as to make it necessary to present revised estimates of receipts and expenditures. There is attached to this message a statement showing the present estimates for the fiscal years 1937 and 1938 as compared with the estimates in my budget message. A glance at this statement will show the principal factor is the decline in tax receipts below our previous expectations.

Fiscal Year 1937

The analysis of returns received in March 1937 under the new tax law indicates that income taxes will produce $267,200,000 less than the former estimate for the fiscal year 1937. The receipts for the first nine months of this fiscal year indicate that other revenues will be $337,000,000 less than the estimate, which is due in large part to the obstruction of collections by numerous lawsuits against the government.

In view of the reduction in revenue it became apparent that every effort should be made to offset this loss as far as possible by a reduction in expenditures. To this end I have directed the heads of various government activities to make a careful examination of their expenditure requirements for the last three months of the present fiscal year with a view to making substantial savings by eliminating or deferring all expenditures not absolutely necessary during this period. The money so saved to revert to the treasury. Information thus far available indicates that the 1937 expenditures will probably be $295,000,000 below the estimate of last January.

The amount of the net deficit for the fiscal year 1937 is therefore estimated at $2,557,000,000, an increase of $309,000,000 over the January estimate.

Fiscal Year 1938

For the fiscal year 1938 it is now believed that receipts will be $387,600,000 less than was anticipated last January, the reduction of $410,000,000 in the estimate of income taxes being slightly offset by increases in other receipts.

Pending the enactment of the 1938 appropriation bills it has been impossible to make any material revision of the estimates of expenditures for that fiscal year, other than for recovery and relief.

The revised estimates of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1938 as here presented indicate an estimated net deficit of $418,000,000. There is included in the estimates of expenditures the $1,500,000,000 for work relief hereinafter recommended.

I propose to use every means at my command to eliminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year. I expect to accomplish this by taking definite action at the beginning of the next fiscal year (1) to withhold from appropriation for expenditure in so far as possible with due regard to proper functioning of the executive departments and agencies a substantial percentage of the funds available for that year; and (2) to increase the receipts of the treasury through the liquidation of assets of certain of the emergency agencies.

I regard it as extremely important that we should achieve a balance of actual income and outgo for the fiscal year 1938, and I appeal to you to join me in a determined effort to bring about that result.

What I have said is predicted on two highly important conditions. The first is the extension of existing taxes which expire this year.

Don't Sleep on Left Side, Crowds Heart

GAS PRESSURE MAY CAUSE DISCOMFORT. RIGHT SIDE BEST.

If you find it hard to sleep on your left side, try sleeping on your right side. It is a common belief that sleeping on the left side crowds the heart and causes discomfort. A recent study by a group of scientists at the University of Chicago found that sleeping on the left side does indeed crowd the heart and cause discomfort. The study found that the heart is crowded by the lungs and the stomach when a person sleeps on their left side. This causes the heart to work harder to pump blood, which can lead to discomfort and difficulty sleeping.

Dr. H. L. Shook, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces heart and colon trouble. Mrs. J. S. Miller: 'Gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. The first dose of Adierka brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better.'"

Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just ONE dose relieves GAS and constipation.

THOUSANDS OF SMALL DAMS IN STATE PROPOSED

Chicago, April 20.—(AP)—State Senator Charles F. Baumrucker (Dem. River Forest) said he expected to confer with Gov. Horner at Springfield today regarding the construction of between 7,000 and 10,000 small dams in Illinois at water conservation projects.

He estimated the cost of the program over a 10-year period would be from $21,700,000 to $31,000,000. Baumrucker's plan called for the state to bear 25 per cent of the cost, the Works Progress Administration or its successor work relief agency 65 per cent, and local communities 10 per cent.

The senator pointed out that last month was the driest March in 18 years in central and southern Illinois. "The level of Illinois underground water reservoir has dropped 10 to 30 feet in the last 15 years," he said. "Deforestation and farming have destroyed the sponge surface of the land, so that rain runs off instead of soaking in. Dams in ravines and gullies would catch this run-off, minimize floods, arrest soil erosion, restore the ground water level and prevent drought."

Sea Otter Skins Bring $410 Price

St. Louis, April 20.—(AP)—Skins of a dozen sea otters brought premium prices of $410 each at the twenty-fourth annual fair sale by the United States government.

The sea otter, threatened with extinction, is protected by law at all times. The pelts sold were confiscated from trappers who had taken the otters illegally.

Spirited bidding boosted prices seven per cent on 22,500 seal skins and 21 per cent on 510 blue fox pelts which also were offered. Col. P. B. Burke, who has conducted the auctions since 1913, reported, Sales totaled $678,967.

DR. POOL QUILTS PUBLIC OFFICES

Compton Mayor and School Board Member To Retire

(Telegraph Special Service)

Compton, April 20.—At a meeting of the Compton school board, Dr. C. G. Pool tendered his resignation as a member of the board and notified friends and voters of the district who have supported him so loyally during his more than five terms of service to the community that he is not a candidate for reelection nor will he qualify for the position if he is elected. While he is interested in continued efficient operation of the school he feels that his health, his duty toward his family and toward his practice all demand that he confine his activity to them as much as possible. In announcing his withdrawal from consideration as a school board member, he asks that his friends give their support to another well-qualified public-spirited citizen. He wishes to thank the voters who have placed their confidence in him for so long a time.

Dr. Pool announced at the same time that he feels he must withdraw from the presidency of the village board also and asks that his friends support a man who will carry on the business of the village in a business like and efficient manner. The citizens of the village should appreciate the fact that the village treasury now has a surplus instead of the deficit of two years ago. Dr. Pool thanks his friends for their efforts in his behalf in the past and pledges his support to all forward-looking steps in good government of the village.

BRITONS FACING INCREASED TAX ON ALL INCOME

London, April 20.—(AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain introduced Great Britain's first "re-armament budget" today with the unwelcome news of an increase in the standard income tax rate to 25 per cent, but with a prospective surplus of £225,000 ($1,260,000).

The budget which Chamberlain drew from his historic, carefully guarded red dispatch box estimated the nation's 1937-38 revenue at £863,848,000, for a £252,000 surplus.

Its approximate equivalent in dollars: revenue, $4,315,000; expenditures, $4,314,240,000; surplus $1,260,000.

In a 90-minute financial exposition, the Chancellor outlined to the House of Commons three new sources of revenue by which Britain hopes to maintain her fiscal equilibrium:

1. Increase of 2.5 per cent to 25 per cent in the income tax.
2. A new profit tax on any kind of business which clears more than $10,000 a year. Income from this source was estimated at $10,000,000 the first year. Chamberlain called the profits tax a "contribution to national defense".
3. Application of an income tax on "one man companies," which have previously been exempt.

$319,708,163 Spent Out Of Emergency Relief In 2 Years

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—The treasury reported to Congress today that federal agencies spent $319,708,163 in Illinois out of the emergency relief acts of 1935 and 1936, from April 8, 1935, to March 31, 1937.

The report said there was an unexpected balance of $41,901,953 from the allocations President Roosevelt made for the state.

The works progress administration, federal emergency relief administration, CCC and PWA disbursed most of the money. The largest single disbursement was the WPA's $183,129,971.

Other disbursements were: FERA $69,292,325. Agriculture, exclusive of public roads and resettlement administration $1,644,334.

Public roads and grade crossing elimination $15,817,426. Resettlement administration $3,862,964.

Rivers and harbors $11,254,292.

CCC $17,015,118.

FRANCOFOLLOWS EXAMPLES OF IL DUCE, FUEHRER

Salamana, Spain, April 20.—(AP)—Insurgent Spain was converted today by Generalissimo Francisco Franco into an authoritarian state, after the pattern of Italy and Germany, with himself as virtual dictator of the territory his armies have wrested from the Spanish government.

By a single sweeping decree yesterday, the Generalissimo outlawed all political parties, except one under his sole leadership, and took over all semi-military organizations as well.

The decree declared, however, the action did not "shut the door" to a possible restoration of the monarchy in Spain if Franco's armies emerge victorious from the 10-month-old civil conflict.

The decree combined the two major insurgent political parties, the United Phalangist and Carlist Reguete, into a state party, similar to the Fascist in Italy and the National Socialist (Nazi) in Germany, with Franco as its head.

The new party, Franco decreed, will be known as "The Spanish Phalanx of Traditionalists and Offensive National Syndicalist Jun-tas."

Franco, as head of the government party, will be aided in formulating policies by a secretariat or political junta and a national council. Half of the junta membership will be appointed by Franco while the other half will be elected by the national council, which shall in turn be elected by the members of the party.

ARMY ENGINEERS STUDY ILLINOIS VALLEY PROJECT

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—Army engineers sought at a hearing today to determine the feasibility of a plan for the government to purchase Illinois river valley drainage and levee districts and convert them into flood reservoirs and fish and game areas.

The proposal was launched in Congress by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin.

Sportsmen representing many outdoor organizations attended today's hearing, conducted at the direction of the house rivers and harbors committee.

Opposition to the proposal has been expressed by the Illinois association of drainage and levee districts which has adopted a resolution opposing Dirksen's plan and has filed protests with the house committee and the army engineers.

Dirksen recently asserted the plan would "save millions of dollars" now proposed to be spent in setting back levees in the area affected, "provide reservoir space in time of flood, and take this land out of cultivation" in harmony with the government's present soil conservation program.

PEORIA SHERIFF FACES POSSIBLE OUSTER ACTION

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—A petition for an investigation aimed at the ouster of Peoria County Sheriff Marcus D. Olson was filed with Attorney General Otto Kerner today by "Jehovah's Witness", a Peoria religious group.

The action was the outgrowth of a Sunday morning disturbance at Peoria last October in which about 100 of the cult members were put in jail on charges of disturbing the peace after they were alleged to have interfered with church services then in progress.

The petition asked Kerner to initiate an investigation which would lead ultimately to Sheriff Olson's ouster on the ground their rights of religious liberties and freedom of speech had been violated.

The petitioners contended that they were conducting "religious instruction" when they were arrested.

Malone's Trial Set for Monday May 24

Chicago, April 20.—(AP)—William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois State Tax Commission, today entered a plea of not guilty to charges that he violated the federal income tax laws. Trial was set for May 24.

Malone has been under indictment for four years, but most of this time he spent in Germany. He returned shortly before last Christmas and surrendered to the federal authorities.

At today's brief hearing before Federal Judge William H. Holly the government was represented by Assistant District Attorney Austin Hall and Malone by Charles Rathbun, attorney.

War Time Romance Ends in Marriage

Aurora, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—A war-time acquaintanceship in Bordeaux was climaxed in the marriage nearly three months ago of Col. Charles H. Greene and the former Miss Louise F. Henry, he revealed today.

They were wedded on January 23. Col. Greene was billeted with the bride's parents, while in France. He is 67 years old and a former mayor of Aurora. Last night he was named chief of police. His bride is 42.

Playhouse Means Work to Shirley

Spring housecleaning may hold few thrills for grownups, but Shirley Temple, as shown above, seems to enjoy it immensely. And what girl, presented with a beautiful playhouse, wouldn't keep it spick and span? Busy, the young film star is pictured on the patio of the glass playhouse, 20 feet wide, 12 feet deep, and six feet high, built for her behind the swimming pool on the Temple estate. Built of translucent glass bricks, the little dwelling features a living room, miniature kitchen, and doll bedroom.

ILLINOIS MINE WAGE PARLEY IS RESUMED MON.

Chicago, April 20.—(AP)—Representative committees of the United Mine Workers of America and coal operators resumed their conferences today with the hope of reaching an agreement on a new wage contract for Illinois miners by the end of the week.

The Illinois miners sought increases of 50 to 70 cents a day over their present basic wage scale of $5 to $5.50 a day, which would be substantially the same as an agreement reached between the Appalachian coal operators and their workers some time ago.

Two committees, one representing the United Mine Workers and the other the Illinois Coal Operators Association reconvened yesterday after their adjournment on April 10.

The operators were headed by D. W. Buchanan, Chicago, and the United Mine Workers by Ray Edmunden of Springfield, president of district 12 for Illinois.

During a recess in the negotiations a resolution was adopted by the policy and scale committee of the Illinois district of the United Mine Workers asking that the Progressive Miners of America, a rival union, join United Mine Workers to make a stand against efforts to "break down the wage agreement and working conditions that exist in Illinois."

When told of the resolution, Claude Percy, secretary of the Progressive miners, said at Gillespie, Ill. his organization's attitude toward the United Mine Workers "has not changed."

Harvard Professor Emeritus Is Dead

Cambridge, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—William Morton Wheeler, 72, professor-emeritus at Harvard University and an authority on zoology, died of heart disease last night on a subway platform here.

A native of Milwaukee, Dr. Wheeler received his Ph. D. at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., in 1892, then studied abroad at the Universities of Warzburg and Liege.

He was curator of the Milwaukee public museum from 1897 to 1899. Later he served at Clark, the University of Chicago and the University of Texas. He left the latter institution in 1903 to go to the American museum of natural history, New York, from which he resigned in 1908 to accept a full professorship in entomology at Harvard.

His widow, Mrs. Dora Emerson Wheeler, formerly of Rockford, Ill., survives. They lived in Boston.

HORNER SILENT ON BULKY PRISON REPORT AWHILE

Says He Hasn't Had Time To Consider It Thoroughly

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—Governor Horner withheld comment on the Schlarman prison report today, while parole bill sponsors claimed the bulky document supported their stand.

Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Chicago Republican, said he would cite the findings of the investigators in asking the house to pass the bills changing parole regulations.

The governor said he didn't get the Schlarman report until Saturday and hadn't had time to read it, adding:

"I am not in a position to state wherein I agree and wherein I disagree with the many recommendations made by the commission."

Six parole bills are on second reading in the house, one by Schnackenberg and the others by Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat. The Republican leader said he would push them, including, the controversial plan to let trial judges fix prison terms within the limits of the indeterminate sentence law.

Except for the indeterminate sentence bill, which Schnackenberg asserted isn't inconsistent with the Schlarman report, he said the brief chapter on the parole situation recommended the objectives of the bills, which would give the board the right to administer oaths, require full publicity and prevent it from being a court of appeals.

No Official Comment

No officials commented on the chief recommendation of Bishop Joseph H. Schlarman of Peoria and his associates, for a five-man, long-term board to administer laws on probation, prisons and parole.

The parole board meanwhile began its executive session consideration of reports of sub-committees which visited the prisons earlier in April.

Whether more parole agents will be added to the supervision staff depends largely upon the approval in situation, state house officials said. The public welfare department asked for added funds to hire more agents.

Some of the downstaters were absent from the house today, because of the municipal elections, and Speaker Lewis said it was uncertain whether the sales tax extension bills could be sent to the senate before tomorrow.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, majority leader, introduced two bills providing that jurisdiction for prosecuting a libel suit against a newspaper or magazine shall be in the county in which it is printed, if in Illinois and if outside the state, in any county where circulated or printed.

Chinese Robber Couldn't Pay His Bills; Executed

Peiping, April 20.—(AP)—Dragged from a hospital bed by police executioners, Liu Yung-Ho, notorious Chinese robber, was shot and killed Monday at the "Bridge of Heaven."

Liu was wounded last month in a gun battle with police. Although condemned to die, he was permitted to enter a hospital for treatment and his execution delayed.

His recovery was slow, however, and authorities eventually decided they could not pay his hospital bills indefinitely.

So they ordered his immediate execution and carried him to the bridge inside the Chinese city. There he was shot in the back of the head.

Bilbo retorted with a three-page letter in which he took the hide off both Glass and the preacher. . . . Labor circles are up in arms over a provision in the state social security bills being distributed to legislatures by the social security board, which would deprive workers of the right to collect unemployment insurance while on strike. A provision similar to this was stricken out of the social security act when before Congress, but the board, notwithstanding this action, is recommending to the state that they write such a restriction into their laws. Two states, Pennsylvania and Arizona, not only refused to heed the board's advice, but wrote provisions into their social security laws specifically providing that strikers should receive unemployment insurance benefits. Rockford Woman Pleads Innocence

Rockford, Ill., April 20—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Clark, 43, pleaded innocent to a murder charge Monday after Circuit Judge A. A. Fisher overruled a motion by her attorney to quash the indictment returned after she allegedly confessed the shot gun slaying April 6 of her husband, Richard, 53.

Mrs. Clark was quoted by authorities as saying she killed Clark while he was asleep "because I loved him and he didn't love me and I couldn't stand for that". No date was set for her trial.

New Jersey will be penalized by the Federal government for diverting into other funds money received through collection of license fees and other motoring taxes.

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN
"HORNED HORSES" OF AFRICA

STRANGE grunting barks that come from the veldt of South Africa no longer frighten the inhabitants, for now it is known that these eerie sounds are the cries of the nervous horned animals that live there. Known generally as gnus, these cud-chewing creatures were called "wild-beesties" by the Transvaal Boers. As tame as they may be, they act wild or crazy whenever they are disturbed. Instead of running away in a straight line, they prance and coo about, jumping from side to side and grunting their strange barking sounds. Nevertheless, the animals are quite fleet.

In dry plains and thin bush country the gnus may be found in central eastern and southern Africa. They can be distinguished by their broad muzzles, fringed with long bristles, long thick-haired tails prominent upright manes and moored horns. Two in a wild mood, appear on a stamp of South Africa.

HIGHWAYS FOR SAFETY AND SERVICE

PROGRESS IN SAFETY
By C. C. Wiley

Associate Professor of Highway Engineering, University of Illinois

When the figures on traffic fatalities in 1936 were recently announced and compared with those of 1935, the first impression was that we had gone backward instead of forward in spite of safety campaigns. A more careful review, however, reveals the fact that this is not the case.

The deaths on the highways in 1935 numbered about 37,000. Unfortunately the sad total of 1936 is approximately 38,500, or an actual increase of some 1,500 or just about 4 per cent.

On the other hand, however, automobile registrations had increased about 8 per cent and the total miles traveled some 11 per cent. Thus the opportunities for accidents had so increased that if the same ratio of deaths to miles traveled as existed in 1935 had continued through 1936 the number of fatalities would have exceeded 41,000. The safety work, therefore, had actually resulted in the reduction of fatalities of some 2,500, or about 7 per cent.

Another encouraging symptom is that we seem to be getting past the "ballyhoo" stage in our safety programs and are settling down to developing and putting into practice those fundamental principles on which safety really depends. The eternal publication of the horrors of accidents is giving way to a studied scheme of education as to how to avoid accidents. While "tales of blood" may have had a beneficial effect on a limited few it is a grave question whether or not they have actually aggravated the situation by developing "the jitters" in otherwise normal drivers. A nervous driver is an unsafe driver.

If safety is to be still further improved both the drivers and the pedestrians must be educated to better behavior on the highways. In addition our program of building better roads and eliminating hazards on existing ones must be enlarged. And finally consistent enforcement of adequate regulations must be provided.

A good driver's license law would be a big help. The figures show that in 20 states having such laws the actual increase of fatalities was but one per cent as compared with 7 per cent in those states having no such laws and the average of 4 per cent for the entire country.

The three "E's" of highway safety are engineering, education, and enforcement. These, not tales of horror, will solve the safety problems.

POETS' CORNER

MY NIECES

Meg and Meb, I love them both. They're fair as girls can be. They do not like to do much work. Which seems so strange to me.

They both have eyes blue as the sky.

And both have light brown hair. Their cheeks are tinted rosy red. Few girls can be more fair.

Meg and Meb have grown so tall I must look twice to see. If they can be the little girls, I once held on my knee.

They both have lips of cherry red and voices soft and sweet. They do not like to do much work. But they are clean and neat.

Well I know that growing girls need so much energy. To keep abreast of nature's laws, And can't work hard you see.

When I was in the army I heard "Taps" with cheerful heart. We rose at reveille and worked a day and then 'twas but a part of the routine to hear "lights out" when one was healthy tired.

But oh today I heard it played After three volleys had been fired Over a new made grave. "Lights out"—for him they laid away.

Lights out—forever and a day. Gone, soldier, gone—and we go on. Our "bed time" bugle call today Became a solemn, mournful lay. Lights out—indeed it was the end. Tired soldier rest—but as they play—

It's for Eternity they bade you rest today.

Limestone Added To Illinois Soil

Urbana, Ill., April 20—(AP)—The state geological survey reported today that more than a million tons of agricultural limestone was added to the soil of Illinois farms in 1936, an increase of 95 per cent over 1935. M. M. Leighton, chief of the division, said the increasing use of limestone is important from a soil conservation standpoint.

Principal gains in the use of the limestone were noted in Bureau, Champaign, Carroll, Christian, Clark, Clinton, Cumberland, Edwards, Effingham, Iroquois, LaSalle, Lee, Livingston, Logan, McLean, Madison, St. Clair, Shelby, Stephenson, Winnebago and Woodford counties.

NEW THREATS MADE MATTSON ARE REVEALED

Notes Are Believed Work Of Cranks By Officers

Tacoma, Wash., April 20—(AP)—Dr. W. W. Mattson, father of slain Charles Mattson, 10, revealed that new threats have been made against members of his family, but he expressed confidence his son's kidnaper-slayer soon would be captured.

The father said lives of Muriel, his 15-year-old daughter, and William, 16, his remaining son, had been threatened.

In the first interview granted since Charles' body was found in an Everett, Wash., thicket Jan. 11, Dr. Mattson disclosed the threats came in the flood of letters delivered at his home every day since the kidnapping last Dec. 27.

Worry Wife
"They worry Mrs. Mattson," the physician said, "but I am confident they are simply the works of cranks. Undoubtedly, they represent the criminal element which walks our streets every day as a potential menace to every family."

He admitted each threatening letter was scrutinized carefully by federal bureau of investigation agents, some 40 of whom are still stationed in Tacoma. Refusing to discuss actual progress of the hunt for Charles' killer, he said: "I have great hope we will get a 'break' in the search soon and be able to put these murderers out of circulation."

Apparently certain more than one person participated in the crime Dr. Mattson blamed easy parole systems for the kidnapping, and asserted Tacoma's lack of police protection was responsible for the selection of his son as a victim.

Sports of Dixon and the World

PHILADELPHIA TEAMS PERCH ON TOP PLACE

Chosen For Cellar They Get Away To Fast Start

New York, April 20.—(AP)—The spectacle of the two Philadelphia teams, almost unanimously chosen for the cellar berths, leading the major leagues testified to the possibility of almost anything today as the teams lined up for the "real" opening after preliminaries at Washington and Boston.

Given good baseball weather all around, an outpouring of more than 200,000 fans was anticipated in seven cities to top off yesterday's total of around 67,000.

New York, with all three metropolitan teams performing within the limits of the greater city for the first unanimous opening day in 25 years, looked for the biggest crowds. At least 50,000 were expected at Yankee stadium to see the world champions open against Washington's Senators, yesterday's 4-3 victims of the Philadelphia Athletics. Some 30,000 more were looked for at Brooklyn's Ebbets field to see Burleigh Grimes lead his Dodgers against their traditional rivals, the Giants.

Athletics Face Red Sox

The triumphant Athletics returned home to face the Boston Red Sox; Detroit's Tigers entertained the Cleveland Indians and Chicago's White Sox hooked up with the Browns at St. Louis in another American league opener.

Manager Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals calmed upon his loganberry star, Dizzy Dean, to start the gashouse game at Cincinnati, where a capacity gathering of 34,000 was expected. A pair of first-division prospects, Pittsburgh and the Cubs, met in Chicago.

The Phillies, with Manager Jimmy Wilson posing as the most contented man in baseball after his club beat the Boston Bees, 2-1, in 11 innings and 1-0 in yesterday's patriotic day bill at Boston, drew a day off, along with their opponents.

Two of the shining stars were on the sidelines. Jimmie Fox, the Red Sox first baseman, was recovering from sinus trouble and Joe Di Maggio, Yankee center fielder, from an operation for removal of his tonsils and adenoids.

Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detroit had a few worries over the illness of pitchers Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe, but was consoled by the knowledge of his good health and by the return of Hank Greenberg to his old first basing job as well as the acquisition yesterday of hard-hitting Babe Herman.

The Cubs also were two men shy in the mound department. Tex Carleton and Curt Davis both being laid up with sore arms, third sacker Joe Stripp of the Dodgers was absent and various others were limping a bit. Wally Berger, the Bees' clouting outfielder, broke a finger during practice yesterday.

Ruffing, Camilli Unsigned
The Yanks' Charley (Red) Ruffing and Dolph Camilli of the Phillies, who were greatly missed yesterday, remained as the No. 1 hold-outs—the only players unsigned on the opening day.

Under these conditions, virtually the only certainty was that the Phillies would remain atop the National league for at least one more day. They won their first contest yesterday when Morris Aronovich, who played with Hazelton, Pa. most of last season, hit a home run in the ninth.

Sylvester Johnson limited the Bees to four hits in eight innings on this contest while both his successor, Bucky Walters, and Danny MacFayden turned in four-hitters in the afternoon. Errors by Tony Cuccinello and Rabbit Warstler gave the Phils their run.

A pair of rookies, Al Williams and Ernie Brucker, accounted for the Athletics' victory. After President Roosevelt lobbied out the first ball, Edgar Smith, another rookie finger, kept on lobbing until the Senators collected three runs in two innings. Williams then hurled four hit ball for the remainder of the game while Brucker's double in the tenth brought in Bob Johnson with the winning run.

A new invention to prevent airships from twisting and breaking in mid-air, has two retractable elevators, movable fins placed near the nose of the ship. The elevators rotate freely so that under normal flight they float in the wind. When a sudden squall comes up, an electrically controlled mechanism automatically turns them to the proper angle and neutralizes the bending impact.

Here and There In Sports World

By Eddie Brietz

New York, April 20.—(AP)—The Gas House Gang must be softening up what with Terry Moore, one of the charter members, going in for oil painting. Tut, tut. Those who know what's going on in tennis say you needn't worry about Don Budge turning pro until 1939.

Frank Thomas, Alabama's chubby grid coach, is down with the mumps. The Broadway crowd hears the Yankees paid Tommy Henrich 25,000 iron men for his signature.

Cleveland's share of the 31,486 crowd that saw Sunday's Hubbell-Feller duel was about $7,500—enough to more than pay half of Feller's salary of $10,000 per game. Baseball writers estimate 100,000 people attended the 19 games between the Giants and the Indians and that 60,000 of these were at the five games Feller worked. No wonder President Alva Bradley of the Indians is taking the loss of Henrich standing up. How did you like that 1.43 mile that Derby candidate Sceneshifter turned in at Churchill Downs yesterday?

Note to American League pitchers: The paralysis has disappeared from Lou Gehrig's finger and he'll be back in there, starting today. Coach Ossie Solem is delighted with the new grid talent at Syracuse. One guess is sophomores will get the call over vets this fall if the competition is close as part of Solem's building program for 1938-39. Gertrude Ederle, the English Channel swimmer, was soaked a dollar in traffic court yesterday for illegal parking.

They've got a big surprise ready for Bob Feller when he goes back to Iowa May 14 to get his high school sheepskin.

Pacific Coast League is baseball's most fun flung circuit. It covers 1,675 miles from the northern tip to the southern. Longest jump in the majors is from Boston to St. Louis, around 1,200 miles. Max Baer's relatives-in-law in Ithaca, N. Y., are the latest to concede Maxie is all washed up as a fighter. Minnesota's famous passing combination—Andy Uram to Ray King—is passing up spring practice for baseball.

Pennant Odds Of Both Big Leagues Quoted By Doyle

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Here are the pennant odds quoted by Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, as the 16 major league baseball teams shove off in the 1937 season:

American League	National League
New York even	St. Louis 8-5
Cleveland 5-2	Chicago 2-1
Detroit 3-1	New York 5-2
Boston 8-1	Pittsburgh 8-1
Washington 15-1	Cincinnati 15-1
Chicago 15-1	Brooklyn 15-1
Philadelphia 100-1	Boston 100-1
St. Louis 100-1	Philadelphia 100-1

TWO-FISTED BUNNY ROUTS POLICE DOG

Toledo, Ohio.—(AP)—A white bunny owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Lightner proved the truth of the old saying about a rabbit spitting in a bulldog's eye.

The Lightners' rabbit, attacked by a large police dog, stood up on its hind legs and lashed out at the dog with both paws in catlike fashion.

The dog, taken aback, turned tail.

ROOSEVELT NOT ABLE TO PITCH NATS VICTORY

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Hurley P. D. Roosevelt—a converted third baseman from Groton—nursed today his first defeat as a lucky ball-throw-out for the Washington Senators.

Until yesterday, the big-right-hander had a perfect record. Four times he flung out the opening day baseball at Griffith stadium, and four times the local nine came out atop on the scoreboard.

The president was getting a little chesty over his performance. Last year he commented on how the capital club always won behind him.

The ball players, steeped in superstition, shouted the same thing to one another. You could see this overconfidence in each tanned face as the team lined up before their chucky's flag-draped box.

Right-hander Roosevelt took a shiny white ball from Manager Harris.

Using a two-fingered-thumb grip—perfect form for a fast ball—he drew back his arm and let it go.

Three Washington stalwarts got their trained fingers on the ball, but it eluded them. Finally third baseman Buddy Lewis came up with it.

The rest is history. The Philadelphia club beat the home boys 4 to 3.

In many states, instead of fining a chronic speeder, authorities install governors that will in no way impede pulling power and acceleration.

IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE!

HUNGRY TRACK ATHLETE WOULD BE POLICEMAN

Victory On Cinders Erupts Glory For Man on Relief

Boston, April 20.—(AP)—If cheers could drown financial worries and a laurel wreath and a silver trophy defied the hunger that threatens his family, jobless Walter Young, lanky 24-year-old winner of the 40th Boston A. Marathon, would be superlatively happy today.

But the transient rewards of victory, although sweet, are far from adequate and he hopes that his proud townsmen of Verdun, Quebec, will give him a chance to get of the relief rolls after four years and become a policeman.

"A job is what I want most," said Young, after he had beaten Arlington's great Johnny Kelley, the 1935 winner and the outstanding favorite.

Hopes For Job

"The Verdun citizens financed my trip here for this race and promised they would provide me with work if I won," he explained. "I haven't had a job since I got married, about four years ago, but I have passed the police examinations and I hope I can get a speedy appointment. My wife and three-year-old son can't eat cheers, laurel wreaths or silver cups."

Young hopes to win in next year's British Empire championship marathon in Australia and in the 1940 Olympics in Japan.

Young won the Boston in his third attempt. He and Kelley ran side by side until three miles from the finish line of the 26-mile course, the Canadian unleashed a nighty spurt that enabled him to pick up almost five minutes in less than three miles.

Leslie Pawson who set the course record of 231:01 in 1933, never threatened and finished third.

Layden Enjoyed Rather Full Day

South Bend, Ind., April 20.—(AP)—Although there was a pretty full day for Elmer Layden, Notre Dame's lean, black-haired athletic director and head football coach.

In the midst of spring training practice, Mrs. Layden at St. Joseph's hospital presented him with a new backfield prospect, 7½-pound baby son, the third child born to the Laydens.

Then, in the afternoon, Joe Bendis, Notre Dame's new end coach, arrived from Minnesota to take up his new duties. He succeeded the late Johnny O'Brien, who was killed in an auto accident at Chicago recently.

In between times, Layden posed for photographers with Benda and members of the squad.

Then, after practice, he held for Chicago to speak during a radio broadcast.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Morris Aronovich and Bucky Walters, Phillies—Aronovich hit eleventh inning homer to beat Bees in first game. Walters pitched four-hit shutout for 1-0 victory in second.

Almon Williams and Earle Brucker, Athletics—Williams held Senators to four hits in 7½ innings. Brucker drove in winning run in tenth.

Eastern Bowling Recovering Some Of Lost Prestige

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Eastern bowling, which has suffered in comparison with the west in the five-man team standings at the ABC, appears a little better as a result of the work of the Colibrun Wheel and Rim quintet of Syracuse, N. Y.

The Syracuse team clinaxed a drive yesterday by becoming the third eastern team in the first ten, with a 3,009 total, scored on games of 1,033, 1,006, and 970. Until the disappointing last game the Colibruns were a threat for first place. The other two eastern clubs, are the Beltinger Diamond of Buffalo with 3,086 for fourth place and the Pastime A. C. of Syracuse with 3,045 for sixth.

Ned Day of Milwaukee missed knocking Willie Ward out of first place in the all-events standings by 25 pins in the day's only change in the standings. He rolled 2,014 for his final all-events standing with a singles score of 689, made yesterday, and team score of 637 and doubles score of 688.

Two Governors To Attend White Sox Browns' Opener

St. Louis, April 20.—(AP)—Governors Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri, and Henry Horner of Illinois and President William Harridge of the American League were to attend the Browns' opening game against the Chicago White Sox today.

Orsi Hildebrand was "Rajah" Hornby's choice to hurl for the Browns, and Vernon Kennedy was picked by Boss Jimmy Dykes for the Chicagoans.

Cloudy and cooler weather was forecast. Advance estimates placed attendance at approximately 15,000.

DIVING BOYS PREFER QUARTERS TO DOLLARS

Honolulu.—(AP)—Diving boys here hope tourists arriving this summer will toss them quarters instead of silver dollars.

Smaller coins are easier to retrieve from the water, say these Hawaiian mermen who meet every incoming liner, shouting for a chance to display their skill.

Although the boys manage to snag nine out of every ten coins thrown from shipboard, officials estimate that between $25,000 and $30,000 are imbedded in the mud of the harbor bottom.

PONZI NEARING RESUMPTION OF BILLIARD REIGN

Greenleaf, Crane, And Caras Forced Four Way Deadlock

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Andrew Ponzi of New York, who did not bother to defend his 1935 world's pocket billiard championship, last year, is just one game away from this year's title.

If Andy can whip Ralph Greenleaf, the tournament veteran, in his third match of the Round Robin tourney, tonight, he will be in. Greenleaf and Ponzi finished in a four-way tie with Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del. and Irving Crane of Rochester, N. Y., in the regular play, and then embarked on the current series to determine the champion.

Last night Greenleaf lost to Caras, 125 to 118, in 37 innings, one of the tightest matches of the tourney, and Ponzi won his second game of the series over Crane, 125 to 72, in eight innings.

Another Tie Possible

Another tie will bob up if Greenleaf and Caras, who plays Crane, triumph tonight. If they win the round robin will be thrown into a three-way deadlock.

All places below fourth were determined by the total number of points scored throughout the tournament. Fifth place on this basis went to Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland with 1,195 points, sixth to Mosconi with 1,124, and seventh to Onofrio Lauri, Brooklyn, 1,046.

Charles Seaback, Boston was eighth; Marcel Camp, Detroit, ninth; Fay Gainer, Vineland, N. J., tenth; Benny Allen, Kansas City, 11th; and Joe Diehl, Rockford, Ill., 12th.

Cubs And Pirates Play To Sell-Out Crowd Of 42,000

Chicago, April 20.—(AP)—Barring a sudden, unexpected change in the prevailing fair weather, Chicago's Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates open the National League season at Wrigley Field today before an estimated sell-out crowd of 42,000.

Southpaw Larry French was the Bruin hurling choice, with the veteran Charles (Red) Lucas drawing the Pittsburgh mound assignment. Gabby Hartnett, Cub's veteran backstop and something of an opening day landmark here, is suffering from a sore arm and his place was to be filled by young Ken O'Dea.

JEER MALE LEIS SELLERS

Honolulu.—(AP)—Hawaiian women who support themselves by selling flowers leis to tourists are indignantly protesting competition from men, a half dozen of whom have joined more than 100 vendors on the waterfront. "It doesn't look nice for men to be selling flowers," the women say.

BRADFORD RELAY ENTRIES POUR IN

Anders of Moline One Of 100-Yard Dash Experts Entered

With team and individual entries already at a high point and continuing to come in, success of the second annual relays is assured and there are indications the event will exceed the prominence won by the first meet.

Extensive plans have been made for a record number of high school athletes and fans who are expected to jam the field adjoining the school building where races and field contests will be held.

Among the stars who will appear at the meet are Anders of Moline, who has sprinted 100 yards in 9.8 seconds; Mee of LaSalle-Peru, who has heaved the shot 51 feet, 6 inches; Wright of East Moline, discus thrower to the 130-foot mark; and Anderson and Green of Kewanee, milters under 4:50.

The event is arranged with two divisions, Class A for schools having an enrollment of 300 or more students, and Class B for schools with enrollments under 300 as designated by the high school directory.

To Give 317 Awards
Awards to the number of 317 in the form of trophies, track shoes, medals and ribbons amounting to $150 will be given winning individuals and teams. The trophies, of beautiful sun gold material, go to winners of the two divisions and remain in possession of the winning teams.

Individual events are: Shot, discus, javelin, broad jump, high jump, pole vault and high hurdles. Relays include: Frosh-soph, distance medley, sprint medley, 400-yard low hurdles, shuttle and 320-yard high hurdles shuttle.

DRIVER PULLS ASIDE

TO LET BRIDGE GO BY
Butte, Mont.—(AP)—The report of an accident, filed by Patrolmen Ed O'Keefe and Tom Monahan, speaks for itself.

"The driver of the car saw a bridge on Bell Creek coming toward him and he pulled out of the highway to let it go by. He went into the river, but did very little damage to his car and none to the bridge or the river."

TANKS — AROUND — HALT!

SOMETHING MUST HAVE HAPPENED TO ROGERS, SIR!

SEND A SCOUT DETAIL FORWARD! WE'LL WAIT HERE UNTIL THEY REPORT!

THE SCOUTS SHOT AWAY —

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

SCIENTISTS RESTORED THE SKULL OF THE PREHISTORIC BALUCHITHERIUM FROM 600 BONE FRAGMENTS THAT WERE DUG UP IN THE GOBI DESERT.

IT TOOK ONE MAN SEVEN MONTHS TO PIECE THE COMPLICATED "JIG-SAW" PUZZLE TOGETHER.

THE WORD HALO, USED TO DESCRIBE CIRCLES OF LIGHT SURROUNDING LUMINOUS BODIES, SUCH AS THE MOON, COMES FROM THE GREEK WORD αλως . . . A THRESHING FLOOR, WHERE OXEN TRAVELED AROUND IN A CIRCLE, TRAMPING OUT GRAIN.

SCIENTISTS have done some very remarkable work in the restoring of ancient fossils. Contrary to a quite prevalent opinion, the reconstruction of these skeletons is not done by guesswork, but by a general knowledge of anatomical structure. Although later skulls of the above animal have been found, only minor changes were made in the original specimen.

13-YEAR LOCUST FOUND ABUNDANT*Southern Illinois Is Menaced By Hopper
Plague

Urbana, Ill., April 20—The 13-year brood of periodical cicada called locust by most people, will be general over the southern third of Illinois this year, according to
W. P. Flint, chief entomologist, University of Illinois, college of agriculture and Illinois State Natural History Survey.

Scheduled to make their appearance the latter part of May, the insects will be flying for about three weeks in woodlands, orchards and trees in parks and on city streets.

About the only real damage caused by cicadas is the weakening of twigs by egg punctures. On large trees this injury is not serious, but in orchards the insects occasionally cause some loss in the fruit crop.

Neither spray nor dust is effective in repelling cicadas, Flint said.
Trees that are especially valuable may be protected by screens. However, this practice in most cases is not necessary.

Eggs from which this year's brood hatched were laid 13 years ago. In fulfilling their life cycle, the insects have been living as underground hermits in cells in the earth. In this stage they obtain their food by sucking sap from roots of trees and shrubs.
Since the insects grow so slowly,
little harm results to the trees
from this feeding.

Adult cicadas feed very little.
They fly about, mate and the females lay eggs in the twigs of several kinds of shade and fruit trees. Thousands of eggs are sometimes deposited in the twigs of a single tree. After passing a few weeks of their life in the twigs, the insects fall to the ground
where they enter the hermit stage.

The brood which takes wing in southern Illinois this spring is one of 30 different broods that appear from time to time throughout the United States. Last year a 17-year brood was abundant in eastern Illinois.

In a facetious mood Flint pointed out one difference in the life habits of cicadas and human beings.

"Male cicadas do all the talking," he said. "Females are without voice. The song of the cicada is a high-pitched note made by the rapid vibration of a small drum-like organ on the side of the male's body."

"This song is sometimes called the Pharaoh call of the cicada.
When a person hears the call at some distance, little imagination is required for the call to sound like the repetition of the word 'Pharaoh'."

Flint exploded the ancient superstition that the approach of a war is signified if the letter "W" is formed by the veins on the cicada's wings.

"All cicadas have always had the letter 'W' formed by the veins on their wings," he said. "But then, there seems to be a war always in progress or on the way."

sum.

The young couple were educated in Oregon high school, the bride graduated with the class of 1935.

They have a new home on South Sixth street which was ready for keeping at once.

The senior class of Oregon high school has selected as its class play
"Through the Keyhole," by William F. Davidson, which will be presented at the municipal coliseum Friday evening, April 23 at 8 o'clock.

Grandma Tierney, a spry old lady, played by Jeanie White, has a chronic tendency to listen at keyholes. By this method she discovers things about everyone in the play including some concealed identities. The French maid, Joan, played by Adelaide Jenkin dresses up and goes to a party with Jim Tierney played by Donald Reed, while Clark Farrell as William the butler, disguises himself as an English aviator and escorts Marian Cirkens, who plays Mary, the daughter of the house, to the same party. The purpose of all this intrigue is to make the Van Camps jealous. They are Tom Holman who plays Archie, a literary personage and Madeline Weyrauch,

MILLEDGEVILLE
HOLSTEIN HERD
BEST IN STATE

Urbana, Ill., April 20—(AP)—William Werner of Milledgeville was notified today his herd of purebred Holsteins led the state in butterfat production for the second time this year. The herd also set a new record for 1937 with an average of 60.6
pounds per cow.

C. B. Rohde of the dairy department, University of Illinois college of agriculture, announced the herd as the best during March. It had been similarly acclaimed in January. Second place for last month went to a herd owned by Frank Sayers, Orland Park, with an average production of 57.4 pounds.

The state average for the 20,175
cows on test as a part of dairy herd improvement activities was 29 pounds, the highest monthly figure so far this year.

Owners of the other herds ranked among the first ten for March, with their butterfat averages, were:

Yapp and Goeke Havana, 55.7;
Joash Stutzman, Carlock, 54.7;
Walter Splinter, Winslow, 54.1;
Simon Marner, Arthur, 53.2; L. D.
Seas, Sullivan, 50.4; Ira Solon and Sons, Calva, 49.8; Cole and Donnelly, Amboy, 48.6; Hansen and Benjamin, Cedarville, 48.3.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Fatling, with the help of GERRY
NEAL, to locate her companion,
BETTY HAYNES, who was abducted
by JACK SPEEDION. MARTHA BRITAIN starts north from San Francisco after the coast guard and suddenly she decides even though she loves Neal that he is implacable to Betty's disappearance. So she has him arrested.

Arriving in Seattle, still in search of Betty, Martha is abducted by Speedion, who proves to be an agent for JOHNNY CIZNIK, underworld character. Eventually Martha and herself aboard Ciznik's ship. Then it is that she leaves she and Betty have been the innocent victims of a gigantic dope ring, whose leaders wanted to try out a new trailer as a narcotic conveyor and used the girls to make the test.

Martha, offer to take Martha into the ring, threatening death if she refuses. But Martha is admired at this danger, Ciznik is about to punish her when a terrible detonation rocks the ship in the excitement, Martha escapes from Ciznik's cabin and finds Betty. They learn that the coast guard is chasing Ciznik's ship. For a moment they think they are to be rescued and they nod and whisper, "We them up once more in Ciznik's cabin under guard of the Oriental. He tells them if the coast guard catches up, it means death.
A second crash rocks the boat and the coast guard is seen. The cabin thus a revolver at the girls.
The sound of a shot rings hideously against the steel plates.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIV

MARTHA screamed, opened her eyes again. But it was not Ciznik who had fired. His revolver clattered to the floor, and he stood there clutching his right wrist and rocking with the sudden pain. Suddenly the room was filled with men, all struggling around Ciznik and Ling.

A young coast guard officer shoved through the mob. "Take them aboard," he ordered, and came toward the two women.
"Are you all right?"

"Y-yes," said Martha weakly.
"I'm Lieutenant Howison. We didn't know you girls were aboard here or we wouldn't have got so rough out there." Quickly he un-loosened the rope which Ling had bound them. "We'll take care of
you. There's a doctor aboard."

Howison's men made fast work of sending Ciznik and the Oriental along the passageway. With the officer between them, Martha and Betty followed, both glad for his firm assistance.

On deck the confusion had subsided. Ciznik's men were meekly transferring to the coast guard.
An officer and crew were making ready to take over the smuggling ship. Suddenly Martha stopped dead still, her face growing paler than before.

"What's wrong?" Howison
asked.

She rubbed a trembling hand over her damp forehead. "N-no-nothing. I'm all right now."
She had seen Gerry Neal, un-

NEW OIL FIELDS BOOM SOUTHERN PART OF STATE

Extensive Prospecting Indicated For Little Egypt

Centralia, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—The seismograph, an intricate and delicate instrument employed by geologists to study earth strata, has pointed the way for extensive oil prospecting in southern Illinois.

The instruments, so sensitive they will record the vibration of raindrops striking the ground, have, geologists said, traced a pattern of "promising" oil structure far beneath the surface of the earth.

All major oil companies interested in the southern Illinois development either have contracted independent seismograph companies or employed crews exclusively to make recordings of geological structures.

Between 12 and 15 men are employed on a "skeleton" seismograph crew. Working from a central location daily, crews may operate from one city for several months or until they have completed extensive surveys of all territory in the immediate vicinity.

Routes Laid Out
Following routes laid out by geologists, the engineer and roadman place tiny flags at locations to be "shot." These men precede the "shot point" crew by from four days to two weeks.

At each shot flag drillers preceding the "shot point" crew drill holes for dynamite charges at varying depths, depending on the locality, some of which are as deep as 80 feet, seismographers say.

Traveling behind the "shot point" crew is the recording truck, "Pots," (geophones) delicate instruments which record minute vibrations, are distributed by men working on the recording truck at distances up to a quarter of a mile from the spot where dynamite is to be shot.

Varies With Locality
The number of "pots" distributed varies with the locality and the system employed by the company. Under ordinary circumstances at least four are set up, generally beneath the ground about 18 inches to avoid inaccuracies caused by wind or rain. However, at times they are set on the earth's surface.

As the dynamite is set off, energy echoes are transmitted to the "pots" and from there to mechanisms inside the recording truck which records the findings on film. The resulting graph is based entirely upon the time taken for energy to travel from the point of discharge to hard beds beneath and back to "pots" on the surface.

Thus, if on the two extremes of a certain area it takes longer for energy to make the circuit than it does in the center of the area, those who interpret the recordings know that a dome structure exists.

Whether or not such a formation contains oil is purely problematical but possibility that "liquid gold" does exist in dome structures is much greater than in flat areas.

Seismographing, geologists point out, enables prospectors to reduce their chances of drilling "dry holes" but it is not regarded as an infallible indication of oil.

EXPERT CHEFS AT C. M. T. C. CAMPS

Cry "When Do We Eat" Will Be Satisfied During Summer

The answer to "When and what do we eat?" the cry that resounds throughout the nation wherever youths are gathered in encampments during the summer, is already being prepared by the United States army chefs who have charge of the citizens' military training camp cookery. As a foremost example there is Chef Peter C. Dranes of Fort Sheridan, where 1,350 young men will be trained from July 6 to August 4. Pete has solved the answer to second helpings by building what he calls pastry ala Fort Sheridan. Lee county young men are asked to apply to M. T. C. A. chairman Oliver M. Rogers at the Rogers Printing Co.

"The ordinary person has little idea of how much dessert the youngsters want and actually need after their strenuous work in the open air," said Pete while discussing plans for the Fort Sheridan menus of this summer.

"The ordinary cake is just about four sizes too small," continued Pete. "So we will make giant cup cakes. The ordinary slice of apple pie also is too small for these growing lads, therefore we will make the 'Deep Dish Apple Pie ala Fort Sheridan' which with close to a half pint of ice cream on top of it nicely fills a mess kit and eventually the hungry trainee also. It is a giant apple pie made of the very finest ingredients. Other pastry is built on the same scale and we have a great variety for we have a cooking school here at Fort Sheridan for the sixth army corps area that teaches pastry cooking as well as the other branches of the cooking art."

Cooks from this school are sent to the various encampments of the area and the young men attending the training at Jefferson Barracks, Camp McCoy and Fort Sheridan, the three camps to which the youth from Illinois are sent, can be assured they will put on weight as well as get in fine shape during their month's training.

Statistics show that the average trainee puts on from five to 12 pounds during his training. It is necessary that those who wish to enter the camps this year apply immediately to their county chairman or write to the Military Training Camps association at Six North Michigan avenue, Chicago, for an application.

Here is a sample of an ordinary day's meal at a citizens' military training camp.

Breakfast
Fruit Cereal Ham and Eggs
Toast Jam Butter
Milk Coffee

Dinner
Soup and Crackers Roast Veal
Sage Dressing Mashed Potatoes
Corn on Cob Lettuce Salad
Deep Apple Pie Bread and Butter
Lemonade

Supper
Beef Stew and Vegetables
Combination Salad Cookies
Watermelon
Bread and Butter
Iced Tea

And, as Chef Peter C. Dranes of Fort Sheridan says: "All they can eat." According to the army officers, the intelligent handling of the food problem has been one of the reasons why the citizens' military training camps have proved so popular with the youth of the country ever since the camps were opened. Youth must be properly fed to be built up and the scientific manner in which the army cooks go at this job has met with commendation from all those interested. The army chefs' motto is that good food makes good citizens.

RABBITS

The following is the concluding quotation from the report of the chief of the bureau of biological survey:

"Visitors from 24 states and from Alaska, Canada, Cuba, Germany, Chosen, and New Zealand inspected the experimental work in operation at the United States rabbit experiment station, Fontana, Calif., to obtain definite information on rabbit production in this country. The station provides facilities for general meetings of rabbit producers and local rabbit clubs in the southwestern part of the United States.

"Fundamental research as well as experiments for practical breeders have been projected along breeding, feeding, and management lines. The records kept over a period of several years have been a fruitful source of accurate information on the various problems encountered. A study of the kindling records of more than 2,000 New Zealand litters has established the fact that February and March are the months in which the highest breeding efficiency is obtained under southern California conditions. The lowest efficiency is in fall matings. It was found that as the maximum temperature rises above 75 degrees F., the breeding potential of the does is reduced.

"Feeding rabbits by means of selective self-feeders has indicated consistently that no advantage is derived from providing rolled grains, such as barley, wheat, or oats. The rabbits have shown a preference for whole grain, and it has actually required less feed in whole grains to produce a pound of fryer rabbit. Young rabbits with their mothers self-fed with whole grain pelleted plant protein meal alfalfa hay and green feed show an average increase in weaned weight at 56 days of 33 per cent over comparable litters that have been fed a restricted concentrate consisting of milled grains with alfalfa hay and green feed. This increase has been due very largely to the fact that the rabbits consume a higher percentage of concentrates when self-fed, about two pounds of grain for each pound of roughage."

Next week we will give the standard of perfection for the lilac rabbit.

SOUND FIRST AID MAY REDUCE TOLL FARM ACCIDENTS

Advice Checking Up On How To Care For Injuries

Urbana, Ill., April 20.—With the peak of farm accidents soon to be here in the rush season and the busy summer months, this is a good time for farm folks to check up on first aid treatment. It is suggested by Miss Fannie Brooks, extension specialist in health, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Knowing what to do until a doctor can be reached will go far toward cutting down the toll of farm accidents, she believes.

She suggests that farm folks celebrate May 1, which is National Child Health day, by checking up on what to do when:

A barefooted child steps on a rusty nail, broken glass or other sharp object.

A child contacts poison ivy or poison oak.

Somebody becomes overcome by sunstroke or sun burn.

A child is bitten by a rabid dog.

A child has gone in swimming too soon after eating and therefore is attacked by cramps or acute indigestion.

A child receives small cuts and scratches while playing about the farm.

A good first aid kit which can be managed in any home will contain a good book on first aid to the injured; a small drinking glass; two gauze bandages which are 2 inches by 10 yards; two gauze bandages, 1 inch by 10 yards; one all-cotton elastic bandage, 2 inches by standard; one package of absorbent cotton; one box of band-aid; one roll of adhesive plaster, 2 inches by 5 yards; one package sterilized gauze of 5 yards; one triangular bandage; six sterilized gauze pads; one tourniquet made of a handkerchief or wide muslin; safety pins; small scissors; tongue depressors; bar of soap ammonia; camphor; iodine, and mercurchrome.

F. D. R. Nominates More Diplomats

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt nominated Monday four more diplomatic appointments for posts in Europe and Latin America, including Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., of Pennsylvania to be ambassador to Poland.

The executive also sent to the senate the name of Florence J. H. Harriman, of the District of Columbia, to be minister to Norway, succeeding Biddle.

Other nominations were Robert Granville Caldwell of Texas to be minister to Bolivia and Herbert Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island to be minister to Portugal in place of Caldwell.

A sign on the outskirts of Randolph, Mass., warns motorists that they had better drive carefully, as there are no hospitals in the city.
